: "Being at a young age when my grandparents died I don't have too many memories of them. I do remember grandmother Elrod's biscuits, they were better than cake, and she always had lenty of them on hand when we went to visit them.

Grandmother Ellison made good gingerbread. They had a lot of different kinds of fruit in their orchard which they shared with us.

I have many pleasant memories of my early childhood, being on a farm we had plenty of chores to do, and my father lanted a lot of grain and cotton. I've had many backacks from picking cotton. We kept our father busy going to the cotton gin in the wagon pulled by two mules. One of my pastime memories on Sunday afternoon was jumping and playing on the bales of cotton that my father had unloaded in the yard waiting of a btter price.

In the winter when we were hovered around the fireplace and coal stoves, we enjoyed popcorn, peanuts and potatoes baked in the hot ashes in the fireplace. Some of our favorite games were playing checkers, passing the thimble and horseshoes. The boys especially enjoyed the horseshoes.

I attended Cedar Grove School and graduated there. At an early age I joined Cedar Grove Baptist Church, which I still am a member.

On Feb. 8, 1941, I married George Bennett Ledbetter at the home of Rev. M.M. McCuen who served as my pastor of 40 years.

On July 9, 1945, we became the proud parents of a son, David Bennett Ledbetter. He is married to Sandra Whitlock. They live in Greenville, SC. and have two children, Michael and Susan. He is prioncipal of Woodmont Middle School in Greenville County. Ronald Blythe Ledbetter was born on July 17, 1947 and died three days later. Nancy Anne Ledbetter was born Oct. 11, 1951. She is married to Alec Joyner and living in Woodstock, GA. They have two children, Katie and Ben Joyner. She teaches school in Woodstock, GA. The Lord has blessed me with a wonderful family and I am proud of them." Signed: Lola E. Ledbetter.

Dear Grayson,

Thanks very much for your dedication and hard work put into getting together so much interesting information about the Ellison history, My father was Matthew J. Ellison (^69 in your first history). He and my mother, who's maiden name was Iva Elizabeth Eirod were married Dec, 13, 1903. Our Parents raised a large family of 10 children, 5 girls and 5 boys. My grandparents William Howard Ellison (#23 married Edna Frances Lollis in 1870, were also the parents of 10 children. The tradition of having large families seemed to prevail in those days, but our present families are much smaller,

My father was a good farmer, who grew lots of grain, which was Sold to other farmers to plant on their farms. «o often when were weighing out grain for a customer, even though honest weight was being given, o^r dad would often say to us, "Boys put in a little more". He seemed to practice this in his service to the Lord and in dealing with his fellow man»

My mother had a great responsibility in taking care of a large family of children. I recall one evening when I was a small lad my dad was given the task of getting me ready for church service, As we arrived at Church and had gotten out of our car to go into the service, my mother quickly grabbed me ad took me back to the car. My dad had put my little ""Rompers"" on backward. Just a few minutes later mother had me straightened out, and walking in the right direction,

When I was 4 years old our family moved from West of Rock Creek to "main street" in Cheddar. I have been thankful for this move throughout the years, because this meant being close to school and church as well as not far from "Uncle Harve Kellys1' Country Store". Our favorite purchase from the country store was a pennies Worth of mixed candy", Uncle Harve always]gave us a bag full of candy even though we only had a penny. Two eggs had the same purchasing ^power as a nickel, and we often used this as our purchases were made ! Uncle Harve tried to keep a full stock of merchandise, but if he happened to be out of a item he would say, "I've got a car load Coming, surely that train will be here tomorrow,

The train ran directly in front of our home. Back during the 19⁰ *8 during the summer the railroad crews would s[^]ray the track and adjoining area, with a poisonous chemical to keep down the vegetation. One summer our cow got out of the pasture and ate some of this grass which killed her. When a railroad official heard about this he came to see my dad, he said "We put up signs all along the railroad to warn that the grass is poisonous". My dad replied. Yes I know that is true, but my cow couldn't read your signs". They paid for the loss without further delay.

Thanks for Your dedication,

Richard M. Ellison

At and early age he found his calling - A carpenter - the job he loved. Later in life he took a warm and loving wife- Corrie Lea Moon of McNeil - Until death did them part - August 6, 1986.

He loved the simple things of life - always sharing his love, laughter and possessions with others - especially the less fortunate. A good samaritan for all.

He was a good man - a gentle man - a caring man - respected by all who knew him. He could make children laugh or dry their tears. His friends were many - He had no enemies. He made the world a better place to live. We miss him so!" The Morgan and Moon Families.

"I wish to express sincere appreciation for the action of Mr. George E.. Morgan, a deskman for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Austin.

Mr. Morgan happened to be near the scene of an auto accident Jan. 1, involving my sister-in-law and two nieces. The youngest girl, Susan Welanetz, age three, was seriously injured.

Mr. Morgan's prompt action in taking care of her until the ambulance arrived and staying with her during emergency room procedure complete with x-rays and treatment was such a comfort to her mother, who was also injured in the accident.

There is no way we can compensate Mr. Morgan, except perhaps to let his fellow employees know they should be proud to be associated with one who is ready to aid a stranger in need. If each of us were as ready and willing to be the good Samaritan S Mr. Morgan was, this world would be a much safer and happier place to rear our children." M.G. Griffith.

I had the privilege of visiting with Sallie and her husband in June 1989. she had come from the hospital the day before I arrived and she was not able to get to her material that day, but she sent me some more material later. Sallie fought a losing battle with cancer and she died in December 1989. I was certainly glad that I was able to visit with her.

He died on 12 May 1975 at the age of 51 in Denver CO.. MEMORIAL TO THOMAS ELLISON MULLENS 1925-1975

LAWRENCE C. CRAIG.

Thomas Ellison Mullens, A Fellow of the Geological Society of America, was born at Lovington, New Mexico on January 10 1924. He died in Denver, Colorado on May 12, 1975, after heart surgery. His survived by his wife Marjorie and two daughters, Nancy and Barbara.

Tom's parents, John and Frances Ellison Mullens, moved to Aspermont, Texas shortly after his birth. His father died when Tom was about two years old. At a later date his mother married Archie B. Chandler, and the family moved to Dallas, Texas, where Tom grew up and received most of his early schooling.

Tom graduated from Dallas Technical High Schooling 1940 and entered the University of Texas with plans to major in chemistry. His education in interrupted by World War II, and from 1942 to 1946 he served in the U.S. Army Air Force as an armament officer, attaining the rank of captain. He returned to college in 1946, enrolling in Souther Methodist University, and in 1948 he received his B.S. degree in a combined major of geology and chemistry. Tom continued at Southern Methodist University for an additional year of graduate work in geology. In the summers of 1947 and 1948 he served as field assistant to J. Fred Smith, Jr. and Claude C. Albritton who were mapping in the Sierra Blanca area of West Texas. In later years Tom's reference to these instructors made clear the high esteem that he placed on these early geological associations.

Tom was a resourceful and diligent geologist, who had the remarkable capacity to listen to and assimilate from his colleagues and to return his gain manifold through the benefits of his observation and knowledge. In addition Tom possessed a unique ability to complete one job before starting another. These capacities -- to encourage mutual exchange and to complete jobs - were reflected through his career as basic principles to his concept of the ethic of working scientist.

Mullens's specialty and preference in work was the application of stratigraphic studies to mineral deposits of the western United States, and during his career he made contributions to the geology of the following mineral commodities: uranium-vanadium, lead, zinc, heavy metals, and coal. He joined the U.S. Geological Survey full time in June 1949; his first assignment was to the geologic Division uranium program that preceded the uranium boom in the 1950s. In this program he participated in regional stratigraphic studies, a team effort, for which his main responsibility was lithofacies studies of the major uranium-producing unit at that time in the Colorado Plateau. The study of the Salt Wash Member of the Morrison Formation, made the company with V.L. Freeman and under the general guidance of L.C. Craig and C.N. Holmes, was a pioneering effort to quantify facies data in a sequence of fluvial rocks over a large region; it provided basic support to the regional stratigraphic synthesis of these rocks and provided a regional lithofacies setting for the uranium deposits. Tom played an important role in the development of methods and contributed unstintingly to all aspects of the stratigraphic program.

Upon completion of this work, Mullens undertook a mapping project under the general supervision of J. Fred Smith, Jr., again in support of the Survey's uranium program from July 1952 to December 1953 he completed mapping five 7 1/2 quadrangles in the Red House Cliffs area, a family inhospitable (and at times a relatively inaccessible part of southeastern Utah. During this work, Tom observed "dust storms on the San Juan River" - attesting to the high silt content of the river and the high temperatures, low humidity, and high wind velocity of the region. The mapping project lay between two well-known uranium mining districts and, although it did not lead to the discovery of any major producing mines, it helped to define the possibilities for uranium discovery and refined our knowledge of the stratigraphic relation of the upper Paleozoic and lower Mesozoic beds between these two districts.

Tom's versatility in the uranium program had been recognized and he then was called into the "front" office where he assisted with the administrative load in the Geologic Studies program of the Colorado Plateau for most of 1954. The pressures of a new program - the Defense Minerals Exploration Administration, which required competent geologic appraisal of uranium properties - diverted him to mineral appraisal work for a period of six months.

In mid-1955, largely as a result of Tom's desire to broaden his experience beyond the Colorado Plateau uranium, he transferred to Wisconsin, where he studied the southwestern Wisconsin lead-zinc deposit, mapping (in quadrangle units) the lower Paleozoic rocks and analyzing the date from several thousand drill holes. Mullens was convinced by studies that the structure associated with the lead-zinc deposits were the result of the emplacement of the deposits instead of being pre-existing structures that localized the ore project. Tom was in contact with several economic geologists including A.V. Heyl, Harry Klemic, A.F. Agnew and W.S. West.

Mullens transferred to the Conservation Division of USGS in 1960, and for three years he was involved in quadrangle mapping and the study of phosphate deposits in northern Utah. This study in an area of complex structures resulted in the division of a previously undivided sequence of orogenic conglomerates in the recognition of contrast in Paleozoic rocks across the Willard thrust fault, and in definition of the Cretaceous age of that thrust.

In late 1963 Mullens became Geologic Map Editor for the Conservation Division's Branch of Mineral Classification and devoted much of his time to processing maps and reports for publication. His competence and devotion to his work were rewarded in 1967 by a within grade promotion.

At this time Mullens transferred back to the Geologic Division of the USGS and participated in the Heavy Metal Program. For almost a year he studied and sampled Cretaceous and Tertiary conglomerates in northern Utah and southern Idaho. There followed almost four years of study in north-central Nevada of the stratigraphic, geo-chemistry, and petrography of the gold bearing Roberts Mountains Formation of Silurian and Devonian age. This work resulted in refinement of the age of the Roberts Mountains Formation, a new concept of the regional stratigraphy that indicated a westward marine regression during the Silurian and collaboration in recognition that gold in the mineralized areas was associated with epigenetic pyrite instead of carbonaceous material.

Following the heavy metals studies, Mullens investigated the mineral resources of the El Paso and Van Horns 2 degree quadrangles, Texas, and appraised enormous reserves of sulfur and talc and large reserves of molybdenum of marginal grade.

In 1974, Tom began a study of the distribution of cobalt and nickel in the lead ore of Viburnum trend, Missouri. Since his experiences in Wisconsin, he had been fascinated by mid-continent lead and zinc deposits. One of his last wishes was a couple to complete this work. He felt that he was on the tract of another contribution to the understanding of metallic resources of the country. Indeed, his progress in understanding the lead-zinc deposits is reflected in the comments of A.V. Heyl, who reported that Tom was a most inventive geologist and in a period of a few years became very knowledgeable--an authority--about Mississippi Valley lead-zinc deposits.

Tom's first love was the field. He was a superb and eager field companion. His close colleagues will not forget being awakened at 5 a.m. by the smell of brewing coffee, Tom's self-appointed task to provide a pleasant start for the day. Nor will they forget that as the day became unbearably hot, Tom enjoyed it more and more. To many a panting Plateau colleague, it seemed that every long steep slope of Triassic-Jurassic red beds was capped by Tom, who had arrived five minutes earlier, was comfortable waiting and was filled with geological observations gained during the arduous traverse. He worked both as a team member and as an individual research scientist, offering original ideas, testing them critically, and discarding them readily if they did not satisfy his rigorous tests. On the other hand those ideas that survived his testing won his ardent and tenacious support. His keen and independent powers of observation commanded the deep respect of all associated with him. And he remembered what he observed. An inveterate reader, Tom was source of geological information and a poor choice to bet against in almost any field. If he said that "unheard-of- investment Trust" paid 37-cent dividend--it did, and if he said the deepest oil test in "Bulfrog" Country was x thousand and 7 feet-- that where the drills bottomed. Tom was highly revered by his colleagues, both as a friend and as a geologist. He had yet more to offer. His professional contributions and his presence were keenly missed.

As the compiler of the this book and having a great interest in the family, I feel obligated to write a little about myself. I was born in the rural area of Cheddar that is located between Williamston and Belton in Anderson County, SC. When about 5 years of age, my parents moved into Williamston. I received my education at Williamston High School where I was president of the senior class. After my military service, I continued my education at Anderson College, Anderson, SC; Furman University, Greenville, SC; Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky; and Luther Rice Seminary, Jacksonville, Fla. I also did work at the South Carolina Mental Hospital and the Baptist Hospital, Columbia, SC. My major field of study was psychology and my minor field was history. I was ordained to the Gospel Ministry, 14 Nov. 1948 by Gossett Memorial Baptist Church (now Calvary). I served for 37 years as pastor of churches in Anderson, Greenville, Laurens, Spartanburg and Oconee counties. I also served as a pastor in Louisville, Ky. I was appointed as a home missionary by the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention and I was Director of Mission for the state of North Dakota for five years. After taking early retirement, I served as interim pastor for several churches for the next 5 years.

I volunteered for the Army Air Force Cadet program in 1942. I was sworn in December of 1942. I trained at Miami Beach, Fla, Clemson University, Clemson, SC., Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., Palmer Field, Bennettsville, SC., Shaw Field, Sumter, SC., and Spence Moultrie, GA. I graduated as a fighter pilot and later qualified as a 4 engine pilot (B-24), twin engine pilot and glider pilot. This qualified me to fly all Air Force planes of that time. I volunteered to go to Europe not knowing what I would be flying. I was assigned to the 91st Squadron of the 439th Troop Carrier wing where I flew the C-47 and the C-46. I flew numerous missions in which paratroopers and supplies were dropped. We very often landed just behind the tanks as they moved across France and Germany with their supply of gasoline. We also flew many wounded from the front lines to the hospitals in Belgium, Holland and England. I was landing in Brussels with a load of wounded when we heard on the radio that President Roosevelt had died. I had one mission in a glider in which we landed behind the German lines. We remained behind the lines for a week. I received the Air Medal for this mission. I had two bronze arrowheads and a bronze star. I was very fortunate in that I was never wounded.

I became interested in genealogy about 1955 and I began to collect information at that time. My first book was published in 1962. Other books were published in 1987, 1989, 1990. I have enjoyed the research in connection with these books. I have certainly learned more about South Carolina history doing this than I learned in high school and college. I also enjoyed the 20 days of research in England and Scotland.

The following article appeared in the local Greenville paper after the presentation of the awards on 30 September 1994. GREENVILLE: "The South Carolina Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy (UDC) held their Ninety-Eighth Division Convention in Greenville September 30th-October 1st. During the convention, five combat veterans were presented the prestigious "Cross of Military Service." The Cross of Military Service is an outgrowth of the Cross of Honor and has been established as a testimonial to the patriotic devotion of certain Confederate Veterans and their descendants... it may be bestowed on lineal descendants of Confederate Veterans who have served honorably in time of war... The Cross of Military Service is to be worn only by the person on whom it is bestowed... Crosses of Military Service are the most prized awards bestowed by the United Daughters of the Confederacy. Recipients who served in World War II were William Smith Brackington, Lewis Phillips, Carl Grayson Ellison and Jacob Fox Strait, Sr. Recipients who served in the Vietnam Conflict were Bobby Mendell Dill. Phillips and Dill are Greenville County residents and were sponsored by the Hampton-Lee Chapter #1281 of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Greer. Chapter President is Hope Beacham. Corresponding Secretary is Sybil Wilson."

Longtime health board member steps down

By Kelly Davis Independent-Mail

The minister son of a Williamston miller who spent the last 20 years championing the cause of the mentally ill on the board of directors of the Anderson-Oconee-Pickens Mental Health Center attended his last board meeting Monday.

Carl G. Ellison, holder of a doctorate in theology from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky. and man who spent many years counseling troubled souls as a pastor, said his good-byes to fellow board members over a special meal of fried chicken, green beans and a cake wishing him a happy retirement.

He is moving to his daughter's home in Olive Branch, Miss., a growing suburb of Memphis, Tenn. He said his own poor health and that of his wife of 60 years were the main reasons behind the transition.

"It's been a real pleasure to be on the board," he said. "I've enjoyed working with each of you. It's not a move I really want to make."

However, he also will be near his granddaughter and two great-grandchildren, he said.

Mr. Ellison technically is not retiring. Although he will not be present for meetings, he will keep his seat until it expires in October.

Longtime fellow board member and chairman William Pasco knew Mr. Ellison as a child in mid-1930s in Williamston but lost touch with him until he was appointed to the board in October 1984.

In much of Mr. Ellison's time as an appointee, he has been vice-chairman, a busy role that required him to sit on every committee, Mr. Pasco said. He currently is chairman of the Program Committee, responsible for studying proposed new programs.

Mr. Ellison was born in the Cheddar community in 1923. His father operated a grain mill, service station and grocery in Williamston near where the Hardee's restaurant is now. Mr. Ellison majored in psychology, partly explaining his later interest in sitting on the mental health board. He went to work first for the Southern Baptist Convention, becoming head of missions for the North Dakota District before coming back to Anderson and leading Beaverdam Baptist Church in Fair Play.

He said the greatest accomplishment of the mental health community in South Carolina during his tenure on the board has been the movement of patients institutionalized in Columbia back to their own communities. "They get more individual attention," he said. "It's so much better in a local setting."

" I wish to express my personal congratulations to you, the parents, for the initiative and ability your son, Melvin, has displayed toward his duties, which at this time has warranted him a promotion.

This achievement reflects great credit upon you as parents. Without the proper background and good training which your son received from you, this advancement he has obtained would not have been possible.

I extend my personal appreciation for your part in this achievement, and know that your son's future service will be marked by the same success as in the past.

Obituary-- "Margaret loved her family and friends, but no more than they did her. She loved Jesus, but not as much as He did her. He let us enjoy her smile and chuckle longer than anyone adequately appreciated. They had two memorable qualities.

I cannot imagine Margaret forcing a smile. It was as natural as breathing. No sister or brother endured more trouble than she did. Her husband died on vacation in Yellow Stone National Park. She smiled sweetly and courageously said, 'God knows best and will care for me.' And His grace did

She was a cosmetologist. Lovely white hair probably contributed to the success of her business. But I thought a sweet smile and courageous chuckle contributed more. That spotlighted her among members of a Senior Citizen's Choir.

Our last visit with Margaret broke my heart. A band across her head held her remaining small amount white hair. I bent to kiss her forehead. She smiled but was too weak to chuckle. I hurried outside to hide my uncontrollable tears.

friends sought to comfort Dr. Vance Havner after his wife's death, and the usual, 'Sorry you lost her.' He asked a question, 'How can one lose something and know where it is?'

We know where Margaret is. Christ said to a believing thief, 'Today shalt thou be with me in paradise (Luke 23:43b.' Paul said, 'to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord (II Cor. 5:8b.' Being with Him is wonderful." Dr. George W. Lockaby

Nicknamed Porter and sometimes called JT received very little education as his father needed help with the farm. He attended Duffau School in Erath Co., Texas completing the third grade. Born in a family of ten children. With this limited education Porter and wife Nadine farmed in Hamilton and Erath Counties. In 1943 their third son was born and shortly thereafter they moved to Whitney, Hill County, Texas for Porter to work on the construction of Whitney Dam. In 1946 their first daughter was born and all children attended Whitney School. Porter worked as foreman of the Shannon Ranch south of Whitney and family lived in different locations on the ranch. There would be large cotton wagons and heavy equipment for farming and transporting grains to the gin. He worked from sunrise to sunset for $1 a day plowing the fields. Lake Whitney being nearby fishing was always a family favorite as the yearly reunions were held and large fish fry gatherings. In 1953 he and his wife lost a daughter at birth. Later in 1957 he moved his family to Orange Texas to work as a carpenter. During the days of the 50's Orange was building new housing additions and Porter had plenty of work to maintain the family. Always farming and ranching after work. In 1963 he moved to Bridge City Texas nearby. Also in his later years he went to work for a Foundation to restore the Stark Mansion in downtown Orange, Texas. Restoration of the mansion was to later become a museum until the decision was made to build a new museum which now covers a city block of downtown Orange, Texas. This mansion today stands as a restored landmark of Orange County, Texas. Prior to his retirement he purchased land and built his home in Bridge City where he lived his last years. Porter remained a carpenter until he retired with a 40 year service to his trade. Until his passing he maintained his farm and cattle. Plowing with fellow farmers and weekend roundups held a special interest for Porter and local farmers alike as they all gathered to drink coffee, swap tales and spend their Sundays helping one another work their farms and ranches. For the duration of his life he held the love of his wife and a firm belief in hard work.

" My Dad was quite simply the best. And oh, how he loved his family and our Father in Heaven. When Mother died in 1988, I feared Daddy would die soon after, he grieved so. But somehow, he gathered the strength to keep going, even with all his medical problems. He had a beautiful tenor singing voice, and always sang to Mother and us kids and played Monopoly, Go Fishing and baseball with us. At those sandlot baseball games, the boys, including my brother, refused to let us girls be on their team, so Daddy always volunteered to play with us. His good humor and patience were practically unending, especially when playing with children. Some of the songs he sang to us (I can still sing all the words to each one) were "I'm a Lonely Little Petunia in an Onion Patch", "Marzidoats", "Three Little Fishies", "Oh Little Playmate".

Growing up during the Great Depression, Daddy's parents had to work any job, any time, just to survive. So they all picked cotton, among other things.

As a boy growing up on the Clear Fork of the Brazos River, Daddy and his brother and friends all loved to go fishing. They would even spend the night in the river bottom. Daddy told me about catching those beautiful fish, but the only way the boys had to cook them was to boil them in water, in a large coffee can, over their campfire, with only salt to flavor them. Sounds horrible, but they ate the fish.

It would be so very dark at night on that river, with all the large native pecan trees. One night, when the boys were teenagers, it was very still and hot, when suddenly, they heard "craaaaack", and a nearby tree fell. Soon another fell, then another, and so on. The boys at first were paralyzed with fear, because it was too dark to see. They were afraid to try to get out of there, but in the end, they were too afraid not to leave, and so they ran as best they could and arrived back home, safe and sound, only to learn that trees were also falling on the farm. There was little if any wind that night, and it was not storming. He told me that some scientists from Texas A&M came to investigate "the night the trees fell". He never knew if the scientists figured it out, but hundreds of trees fell that night over an area of many, many acres.

During WW II he served as a pilot in the U.S. Army Air Corps from 1943 - 1946 and worked for Sears Roebuck & Co. after the war.
