He died on 29 Jan 1993 at the age of 68 in George West, TX.. "It was a beautiful day in South Texas. The sun was shining, the temperature abut 75, and a light breeze was drifting across the lawn.

Homer Morgan propped his feet against the small live oak tree and sort of leaned back in his chair. The was reflecting off his partially bald head. He likes to et in the sun when it's kind of cool and breezy.

Anyway. I propped my feet on the same tree and leaned back, too.

Yep, it was a beautiful day, and I thought, Home Morgan has it made.

He has a beautiful place on the east bank of Nueces River looking down on the Mikeska Bridge and he can just sit there and enjoy life.

The house actually is on the small side, but it's plenty big for two people. It's solid - Concrete brick - and well furnished with all the comforts of home. He mention newly installed central heating, but he didn't say anything about air conditioning. I don't thing he needs it. The window were up and the doors were opened, and when we went in to a cup of Coffe, the breeze drifted through and you could look out at the flower baskets hanging from the trees and hear a bird chirping here and there

The lawn slopes down to the caliche road and the grass is sort of scraggly and bit higher than you subdivision neighbor would like, but wheat the heck, Morgan doesn't have to bother with neighbors like city folks do, so why worry about the grass all the time. Mrs. Morgan probably will mow it before it really needs in, anyway.

She's getting on toward 80, but she will bet out and push that mower, he said. She was in Corpus Christi the day I was visiting.

The unpaved driveway meanders up the lawn by the giant live oak tree, past a pecan tree to the carport and an unpainted garage. A couple of hundred feet across the way is the Charter Oak, where they met to organize Live Oak County out of San Patricio County back in 1856. I don't know why there's no historical marker there.

A fairly late-model station wagon was in the carport. Off to the side were a couple of old pickups. We drove the six miles to George West later in the old one, a 1964 model. ..." Corpus Christi Caller Time, 8 April 1984, Spencer Pearson.
