Editor's Comments:

This edition, is my first as editor of the Anderson Record. The format you see is the result of lot experimentation by me - a "two finger" typist at best, and a lot of constructive criticism from my peers. My main concern is having enough local material that is useful and interesting for inclusion (Hence the "Anderson County-100 years Ago" articles).

A Note on the Holland Store Killings: This series of articles from the Anderson Intelligencer during the Winter of 1892/1893 is quite lengthy. A conscious decision was made to include these articles all within this issue rather than continue them through the year on a serial basis. I do hope, that you enjoy them. Further information is available at the Pendleton Historical Society and Recreation Commission in Pendleton South Carolina. Also, several of our society members have researched individuals involved in this event. Contact Ronald Kay.

I am taking over for David Thompson, who has faithfully served in this capacity for the past three years. David, I'm already beginning to appreciate the fine work you did for us these past years and only hope I can perform this job as well.

The next meeting of the Anderson Chapter of the South Carolina Genealogical Society will be held February 1, 1993 in The Calhoun Ballroom, (across from the Sullivan King Mortuary on North Main St).. You are cordially invited to attend. and bring a friend!

The "Anderson Record" is the official publication of the Anderson Chapter of the South Carolina Genealogical Society.

Donaldson is a member of the Seventh United States Cavalry and is stationed in Anderson as a military instructor in the P. M. I.

The police department of Anderson is a terror to evil doers. Their work in the Mayor's court for the month of October stands thus: Number of cases entered on the docket, 73; number of cases convicted, 52; number found not guilty, dismissed, nil prossed, & c., 21. Amount of fines turned into the city treasury, $177.00. Number of days work on the streets, 187, which amounts to $93.50, estimated at 50 cents a day. Hence the total money value of the fines for October is $270.50. Chief Rose and his assistants are vigilant and efficient officers, and not many days pass that his Honor, Mayor Tolly, does not hold court.

Died: October 27, 1892, at her home in Rock Mills Township, Anderson County, SC of typhoid fever, Mrs. Eugenia Witherspoon, beloved wife of Dr. R. G. Witherspoon. The deceased was the daughter of Ruling Elder T. H. and Mrs. E.

R. Anderson, members of the Roberts Presbyterian Church. On the fifth of November 1879, she was united in marriage to Dr. Witherspoon, who now together with two sons, one 12 years old and the other an infant of 10 weeks, are called to mourn her early departure.

Mack, the 6 year old son of Mr. Clark Webb, who lives near Piercetown, met with a painful accident last Sunday Morning, whereby he lost the third and fourth fingers of his right hand. Mr. Webb and his children were at the woodpile and little Mack picked a corn stalk and asked his father to cut it in two with the axe. As Mr Webb made the stroke the little fellow moved his hand in the way and the axe severed several fingers.

Mr. Alex Simpson, who was struck in the head with an axe by his wife last week was still living this morning, and his condition much more favorable. Dr. Wilhite says there is a chance for recovery for the unfortunate man, but still pronounces him in serious condition.

A Fatal Fight at Holland's Store

On Tuesday evening near sundown, a negro brought the news to the city of a fatal fight which had taken place at Holland's Store, 13 miles from here, on that evening about 3 o'clock. The news spread rapidly and was talked of a great deal and several different reports were in circulation.

Sheriff Bolt and Coroner Nance, Messrs. J. S. Fowler and Geo. E. Prince and others left hurriedly for the scene of the bloody affray. From a gentleman who had visited that place we learned the following facts this morning:

At about 3 o'clock J. R. Carter, familiarly known as "Bob," The notorious white Republican of that section, and J. W. Earle became involved in a quarrel which resulted in Carter drawing his pistol to shoot Earle. As he was about to fire someone jerked Earle to one side and the bullet that was intended for him struck Columbus Glenn, a son of Squire Glenn and an excellent young man, and killed him instantly. He was hit in or near the heart. He was walking towards the door where the trouble was and perhaps did not know that there was difficulty in progress. The shooting took place near the door of the house in which the Federal election was being held. Carter was the supervisor. (Editor's note- . The Anderson Intelligencer, of October 28, 1892 also lists Thomas W. Norris, T. B. Earle and Columbus Glenn as Federal election managers for Holland's Store.)

Carter then shot Mr. Earle in the breast and also shot Henry Holland, a negro, with a stray ball. He, too, was hit in the breast. While Carter was shooting, Hampton Earle, a brother of J. W. Earle, who had been hunting and had his rifle with him, shot Carter in the breast and the ball went through him. Carter also shot him in the arm.

When Carter had fired all his loads he started to run behind the house to reload his pistol when Hampton Earle secured a shotgun and discharged both loads at him hitting him in the leg and nearly shooting it off.

Carter's people came and took him home. He was conscious and prayed for himself and asked others to do so. He died about 10 o'clock last night.

Mr. J. W. Earle was living this morning but there are serious fears that he may not recover.

Mr. Hampton Earle is not dangerously hurt. The negro is painfully wounded but it is thought he will get well.

This account may not be as accurate as to some of the details, but it is the report now accepted here as being about correct.

People were horrified at the awful tragedy and lament it. The enormity of the deed can scarcely be grasped by the mind. That so deadly a flight should take place in our County startles us. That two souls should be sent unwarned to judgement shocks us.

Mr. Lewis Owen, wife and three children, Mr. Will Pruitt, wife and two children all of this county, left Monday afternoon for Jefferson Texas, where they propose to make their new home.

The Victims of the Holland's Store Tragedy

The testimony taken by Coroner Nance in the post mortem examinations of the dead bodies of Columbus A. Glenn and J. R. Carter is given below:

A Jury composed of J. S. Fowler, foreman, W. H. Wright, John Wright, Henry Howell, Ham Moore, J. J. Coker, J. A. Manning, Peter Phillips, T. B. Wright, John Sammons, J. K. Harper, and George Palmer heard the evidence as to the means by which Columbus Glenn was slain and their verdict was that he came to his death "by a gun shot wound from the hands of Robert Carter."

The Jury that heard the evidence in the case of Carter was as follows: W. McD... Cochran, foreman, J. H. Howell, T. B. Wright, S. E. Strickland, J. H. Wright, G. W. Palmer, J. E. Anderson, Peter Phillips, John Sammons, J. T. Harper, J. A. Manning, and J. H. Burt. Their verdict was "that J. R. Carter came to his death from gun shot wounds in the hands of Jimmie Earle."

Mr. J. W. Earle died from the effects of the wound he received in the fight on the following evening at about 5 o'clock. No inquest was held over his body.

The Negro, Henry Holland, who was wounded on that occasion seems to be improving.

The evidence herewith given was given under oath by witnesses of the difficulty and is doubtless the most correct account of the whole matter that can be secured. All other reports that are not authoritative must give place to the evidence submitted to the coroner's inquest.

Testimony Over the Body of Columbus Glenn.

I find on examining the body of C. A. Glenn a penetrating wound apparently a gunshot, entering the upper left thorax and severing the innominate artery, the wound necessarily fatal in its results.

R. G. Witherspoon, M. D.

A. M. Bailey said: I am acquainted with the deceased. On yesterday after 2 o'clock p. m. I came to Holland's store, a precinct where they were voting. Mr. Glenn and I were talking on the back piazza. Jimmie Earle and Robert Carter and several other men were present. All got up and walked the piazza towards the door, Mr. Glenn following on behind. I saw Mr. Carter jump off, or was pushed off, I don't know which, on the ground. He, Carter pulled a pistol out of his pocket and fired in the crowd towards Mr. Earle. I heard no loud words and was too far away to hear distinctly any words that were spoken. Mr. Earle pulled out his pistol and fired at Carter. He missed Carter. Saw the bullet hit the ground behind Carter. Carter fired again in the crowd. Saw Mr. Glenn throw up his hands, stagger back a few steps, fall on his face saying "My God, men, I am killed!" I am certain that the second that Carter fired caused the death of C. A. Glenn.

Baylis Cooley said: I am acquainted with C. A. Glenn. The first thing I saw of the difficulty Jimmie Earle and Robert Carter were standing at the steps talking. Carter called Earle a liar. Earle pushed or knocked Carter off the piazza. I don't know which: Carter then pulled out his pistol and I think the first shot hit Henry Holland. The second shot from Carter killed Glenn. There was no chance for Mr. Glenn to have been shot only from Carter's pistol.

Testimony Over the Body of J. R. Carter.

A. M. Bailey said: I am acquainted with Mr. J. R. Carter. When Mr. Carter fired the second shot that killed Mr. Glenn, Mr. Jimmie Earle fired the second shot at Carter. I think it hit Carter. Carter was moving in a line, I think to get a post between him and Earle. At this shot Carter then fired his third shot, which shot I think, hit Jimmie Earle. At this point, Baylis Cooley caught Earle and tried to get him to stop. Earle tried to get loose and told Cooley to let him loose and let him shoot again. By this time Mr. Carter had squatted behind the above mentioned post. Hampton Earle stepped out and made some remarks, I disremember what it was, but was addressing Carter in a tolerable loud voice. Carter then fired his fourth shot. Hampton Earle said "Damn him, he has shot me!" I don't know where Earle went. Carter retreated around the store by the chicken coop. Mr. Hampton Earle came out of the store door as I went into the store, thinking I would meet Carter to tell him which way to go as I did not think he was hurt, and I wanted to get him off, as I believed the shooting would continue as long as he, Carter, remained there. While I was going through the store I heard a shotgun fire once or twice, I am not certain as to twice, but as to hearing one fire. When I got through the store Carter was standing up in the grove a piece from the store with his pistol in his hand. I asked him if he was hurt. He said "Yes, I am killed!" I heard another report of a gun. I don't know who fired it, but on looking around I saw Hampton Earle with a gun in his hand. If the gun that Hampton Earle had was the gun that I heard and had been fired in the position that he was holding it when I say it, the contents would have gone into the ground. Carter went to move and fell over on his left side. I then went for Dr. Witherspoon. I suppose Earle and Carter were some twenty yards apart when I heard the last report. I don't think this last mentioned report from the gun hit Carter.

Henry Brown said: I am acquainted with Carter, the deceased. I was at Holland's Store on yesterday all day and heard the shooting. I saw no shooting but heard Mr.

Jimmie Earle give Mr. Carter the damn lie and saw Jimmie Earle hit Carter at the same time. Saw Jimmie Earle have his pistol in his hand and saw Carter open his grip sack. I then went back into the store. I heard the shooting which was pretty consistent but can't say who did the shooting. I saw a Remington Rifle with the stock broken off but did not see it until after the fracas. I also saw a shotgun in the store, but I don't know whose gun it was. Jimmie Earle and Sammie Earle went out of the back door scuffling over the shotgun. I heard no threat from anyone through the day.

Baylis Cooley said: I am acquainted with the deceased. After the killing of Mr. Glenn, Mr. Jimmie Earle fired at Mr. Carter. I knocked his hand up which caused the ball to miss Carter and strike the ground on the other side of Carter. Then Carter fired the third shot which I think struck Jimmie Earle. After this I can't say anything as to the results of the shooting. There was a good deal of shooting done after the above mentioned but can't say who did it. I heard no threats from anyone about anyone. I think the first starting of the fuss was concerning some speech Carter had previously made that Jimmie Earle was talking of. I think the second shot Jimmie Earle fired hit Carter, but I'm not positive.

Dr. R. G. Witherspoon said: Having examined the dead body of J. R. Carter I find a penetrating wound resembling gun shot entering the left side of the abdomen, passing diagonally through the abdominal cavity to exit on the right back, or vice versa, the missile passing through several important blood vessels making the wound necessarily fatal, he dying of internal hemorrhage. I also find gun shot wounds in left leg shattering the bones. Also a number of bird shot in the legs.

A special dispatch from Columbia to the Greenville News, of last Saturday says: "Warrants were sworn out today in the United States Circuit Court against a number of citizens of Anderson, charging them with conspiracy in obstructing the United States Supervisor in the discharge of his duty, The case will probably be heard before Commissioner Hawthorne at Greenville within the next few weeks. These prosecutions are the results of the bloody affray at Holland's Store, Anderson County, on election day, in which four men, including a United States Supervisor, lost their lives.

Anderson Intelligencer, January 4, 1893

Mr. J. S. Duncan of Smith County, Texas, the son of the late B. F. Duncan of this county, came to his old home to spend Christmas. He moved West ten years ago. His visit is of much pleasure to his friends.

with relatives in this, his native County. He has been a resident of Texas for a long number of years and is his first visit to his old home in fifteen years. His old war comrades and friends are glad to see him again.

Mr. S. R. Kay, formally of this County, but now a citizen of Smith County, Texas is now visiting friends in our midst.

Mr. L. L. Blackman, of Wilkes County, Georgia and his wife are visiting relatives in this county. Mr. Blackman was once a citizen of this place and was a member of the police force in 1885.

Mr. Hugh A. Wardlaw left Anderson last Monday for Cass County, Texas where he proposes to make his new home.

Mr. W. H. Lewis, ex-sheriff of Dallas, Texas, is visiting old friends and relatives in this his native county.

The Greenville News, of last Thursday says: The preliminary examination of the nine men charged with being implicated in the killing of J. R. Carter, at Holland's Store, Anderson County, Election day, which was to have been held yesterday before Commissioner Hawthorne, was postponed until January 17th. The hearing was postponed because of the absence of District Attorney Lathrop and several important witnesses. The examination will be held in Anderson, so that the large number of witnesses and defendants will not be put to the cost of coming here again.

Anderson Intelligencer, January 18, 1893

District Attorney Lathrop Moves for a Dismissal.

The brothers of Bob Carter, who was Republican Supervisor of Election at Holland's Store at the late election, and who was killed on that day, but not before he had killed Columbus Glenn and J. W. Earle and severely wounded Hampton Earle and Henry Holland, were not satisfied with the verdict in the case, and swore out warrants before United States Commissioner Hawthorne, of Greenville, for arrest of a number of men who were present on that occasion. The charge made was conspiracy and interfering with a Federal Supervisor of Election and causing his death.

On Tuesday the preliminary trial was held in the Court House in this City before Commissioner Hawthorne. The following named persons were charged with the offense above stated: Hampton Earle, Samuel Earle, Girard Earle, Baylis Cooley, Thomas Norris, Towers Fleming, William Wright, Banks Wright, and John Wright.

Messrs. Tribble & Prince, of this city, and Jos. H. Earle, of Greenville, represented the defendants, and the persecution was conducted by District Attorney Lathrop and Assistant District Attorney E. F. Cochran.

The following witnesses, sixteen in number, were examined: J. R. Earle, Wm. Strickland, Steve Strickland, John Coker, Henry Brown, Alf. Bailey, Ranse Jefferson, Clark Shearer, Dave Alford, Thomas Thompson, Thos. B. Earle, Luke Hanks, G. W. Carter, W. T. Chamblee, Paul Yon, Lewis Bailey.

Five or six hours were spent in examining this array of witnesses, after which the District Attorney stated that the Government had failed to make out its case and he could not ask that the defendants be bound over for trial on the testimony, and he therefore moved for a dismissal of the the case by agreement, which was granted by the commissioner. Thus ended a case in which there was no merit, but which has harassed the defendants and their friends no little.

Had the case been sent up and the defendants found guilty on each count of the indictment, a sentence of death would have followed. Had they been convicted on the first two counts only, the lowest sentence prescribed for such cases is ten years in the penitentiary and the payment of $5000 fine.

Mr. J. D. Campbell of Belton, the efficient and popular stenographer of the 7th circuit, was employed by the attorneys in the case to take testimony. A day or two saved thereby.
