MOUNTAIN CREEK BAPTIST CHURCH
 Organized in 1789 initially as an Arm of the Shockley Ferry Church. Known for a time as Bethesda. Cooper Bennett was its first pastor. The oldest church in the Saluda Baptist Association, it has been a Lighthouse for the lost and a place for all to worship God and continues to move on FORWARD THROUGH THE AGES

Ed Hillhouse gave a history of the church.

Kay Burns read of her relatives from the minutes of Mountain Creek Baptist Church.

Over 70 people gathered at Mountain Creek Baptist Church on Tuesday evening, June 6th for our annual church visit and dinner. The members of Mountain Creek and Ed Hillhouse, also a charter member of the ACGS, provided a warm and inviting atmosphere for the meeting. A video was shown that was very touching that showed their recovery after the fire of February 9th, 2009 that destroyed their sanctuary. Story and additional pictures to follow in the Summer Newsletter.

A Shake Down of the Moorhead Family Tree

by

Margaret McNab Gale

Years ago, I was talking to Magnolia Cemetery researcher Ted Ashton Phillips, the late husband of a friend of mine. Ted was researching the history of the occupants of Magnolia Cemetery for a book he was writing "City of the Silent: The Charlestonians of Magnolia". I told him that my grandmother, Ruth Moorhead Grist (b. Halloween 1897, d. Sept 17 1956) was buried there. Ever the southern gentleman, Ted told me about his research and tactfully asked if grandmother was a person who was prominent in the history of South Carolina, no doubt looking to see if she warranted inclusion in his book! I told him that I never knew my grandmother (she died when I was very young), but I didn't think that she was a person who would be of interest to most Charlestonians.

This past Easter, I went to visit my grandmother Moorhead's grave site in Magnolia Cemetery. Her grave is adjoined with her parents' graves. My great grandfather was Mance Jolly Moorhead (b. 1872 d. 1940) and my great grandmother was Alice Brown Moorhead (b. 1874 d. 1946). I decided to see if there was any information about my great grandfather on the Internet. I didn't see a lot of information on Mance Jolly Moorhead on Google, but there was a plethora of articles written on a Confederate soldier named Manse Jolly! According to the KnowItAll.org website (operated by the SC ETV), an episode of the "Carolina Stories" series on Confederate Manse Jolly stated that "this program explores the facts and legends surrounding Manse Jolly's life. Jolly became a local icon in Anderson County, South Carolina in the years following the Civil War. He vowed to avenge the deaths of his five brothers and exact retribution from the Union soldiers who occupied the south during Reconstruction". Furthermore, several articles on the Internet noted legend has it that Manse Jolly's brothers were killed in the course of the Civil War, and Jolly swore to kill five "Yankee" soldiers for every brother he lost during the war!

My family records state that another relative of mine was Robert Moorhead.. Speaking of this Robert Moorhead, the Anderson Record, vol. 28, Issue I, Jan/Feb/Mar 2015, pg. 12 (a publication of the Anderson County Chapter of the South Carolina Genealogical Society, Inc.), stated that "Legendary Rebel, Manse Jolly, was the son of his cousin Joseph Moorhead Jolly." This is confirmed in the journal article "Letter from a Reconstruction Renegade", by MUSC Professor of Psychology

Dr. Robert S. McCully, published in the South Carolina Historical Magazine, Vol. 77, No. 1 (Jan., 1976), pp. 34-40. Joseph Moorhead Jolly's mother, Jane Moorhead Jolly, is listed in my family tree, and she was the grandmother of Manson Sherrill "Manse" Jolly.

I only wish that Ted was still amongst the living to discuss my relatives who are interred in Magnolia Cemetery, and their familial connection to the infamous Confederate renegade Manson "Manse" Sherrill Jolly!

Meeting

Minutes for the February 6, 2017 Meeting.

Minutes

President Shirley Phillips asked Bob Carlisle to open the meeting with a prayer. Members and visitors were invited to enjoy refreshments prior to the business meeting. Shirley welcomed visitors. January's minutes were presented. Linda Rogers presented a Treasurer's report. Kay Burns made a motion to accept the minutes and the treasury report. It was seconded and carried. Kay gave out a poster listing the speakers schedule for 2017. Our June meeting will be a covered dish event at Mountain Creek Baptist Church. Shirley read Thank You cards and letters with donations received by the chapter. She also requested that members volunteer to work at our Research Center. She discussed our Expo which will be presented at the Visitors Center on April 29, 2017. The speaker will be Susan Martin, who has authored a book about the town of Williamston. Members were encouraged to request a table and come to present their families' histories. Shirley is in the process of appointing a Nominating Committee. Ona Glenn and James Phillips have been asked to serve. One other member will be announced. Publications Chairperson Sue Brewer, who was absent asked Shirley to report on our project of printing an Index Book for the three Intelligencer Books by Jim Harper. She asked for a show of hands who might be interested in purchasing this index. Our speaker for the night was Greg McKee, who delivered an interesting talk on how the early churches in upper South Carolina used arbors as their meeting places. History shows that the first part of a new church was held under an arbor until resources were available to build a church. There were many Brush Arbors at the same time in the upstate.

Minutes for March 6, 2017

President, Shirley Phillips, welcomed everyone.

Our Chaplain, Bob Carlisle opened with prayer. Everyone was invited to enjoy refreshments. Shirley opened the business meeting. The minutes for February were read and approved. Treasurer, Linda Rogers' report was presented and approved.

Shirley announced the names of the Nominating Committee: Ted Burgess, Jim Dixon, and Steve Cox. There was a motion to accept the nominations and it carried. Shirley explained that when the membership voted to change our By-Laws, one of the changes made allows our Board Members to serve two consecutive terms. This means that any of the present Board Members can serve another term in 2018 if the membership votes to do so. When asked if there was new business to discuss, Shelby Lollis suggested that our chapter donate $200 to Senior Solution since they were a non-profit organization and depended upon donations. There was a discussion that because of our budget the board would have to discuss the motion and make the recommendation to the general meeting. It was decided to allow the membership to discuss this and a vote carried to donate the $200. Ted Burgess seconded Shelby's motion. Kay Burns introduced our speaker, Historian and former USC professor, Pat McNeely, who discussed her books, "Sherman's Flame and Blame Campaign through Georgia and the Carolinas". Ms. McNeely's discussion included many pictures. She discussed the pictures and events as Sherman went through Columbia. She offered insights into some of the Columbia citizens whose recollections had been recorded. Our members had the opportunity to purchase two of her published books.

Minutes for April 3, 2017 Monthly Meeting

After our Chaplain, Bob Carlisle offered a prayer; President Shirley Phillips welcomed everyone and invited us to enjoy refreshments prior to the business meeting. Shirley welcomed new visitors. The minutes of the last meeting had been placed on the tables for everyone to read. A motion to accept the minutes was seconded and approved. Our treasurer, Linda Rogers, had prepared for the members a Profit and Loss Statement for March 2017. Linda reported that member; Ted Medlin had audited our records for 2016 and found that, "Everything was OK." Shirley asked Carolyn Duncan and Sue Brewer to tell the members how we were able to establish our Research Center in the Visitors Center. Shirley also handed out a paper detailing the history of some of our activities up to the year 2007. Shirley reminded us that our Chapter is hosting an Expo on April 29, 2017 which will be held at the Visitor's Center. Several organizations will be there to sell their publications. Everyone is invited to bring their Genealogical information to share with others. Sue Martin, who has authored a book on Williamston, Anderson County will be the featured speaker. Kay Burns then introduced our speaker for the night, Genealogist Brenda Meyer who presented a lecture on "Portable Scanners, Flip Pals and Wands: Using Technology to Make Genealogical Research Easier."

Minutes for Monday, May 1, 2017

Shirley Phillips, our president, welcomed every one. After member Steve Cox opened with prayer, guests were introduced. Kay Burns introduced, former SC State Senator McGill, who shared with us his relationship with his friend, Billy O'Dell. Senator McGill also shared a copy of a painting of the Cooper River Bridge in Charleston that his mother had done in earlier years. (After the meeting, Senator McGill distributed copies of his mother's painting to the attending members.) Shirley invited everyone to enjoy refreshments that various members had brought. Last month's minutes had been placed on the tables before the meeting. Shirley asked if anyone had any questions about the minutes. There were no questions. The motion to accept the minutes carried. Our Treasurer, Linda Rogers, distributed our Profit and Loss statement for the month of April 2017. Shirley gave a report on the Expo that our chapter held the previous Saturday. She thanked the many members who had participated in various ways - setting up the tables and chairs, manning the sale of our books, and cleaning up afterwards, etc. Linda Rogers announced that we added two new members: Lisa Beck and Emily Green. Sue Brewer announced that the new Index for Jim Harper's Intelligence Books is back from the printer and is available for $20.00. Kay Burns introduced our speaker for the night, South Carolina historian, Dennis Chastain, who presented a program on the Cherokee Indians of Upper South Carolina. Mr. Chastain has written articles for outdoor magazines. He has made discoveries of flowers in SC. He and his wife Jane spent four years retracing the Indian routes across SC. He explained how the Cherokee did not follow the contour of the land while making their trails. We had 52 members and visitors attending the meeting.

Minutes submitted by Carolyn Duncan, Recording Secretary.

This article was submitted by Sue Brewer. Sue had received a collection of research papers on the Garrett and Bolding Families from the Joan and Dewey Garrett Collection. This is a true story and first published in a newsletter of the Pickens County Council on Aging and is about one of their Board of Directors. Printed around 1984/85.

Tragic South Carolina Tornado of 1929

James Milford (Bluff) Garrett of Six Mile, S.C. is a member of the Board of Directors of the Pickens County Council on Aging. He is also a member of the General Board of the State Baptist Convention, and for the past thirty-five years he has served as Brotherhood Director of the Pickens Twelve Mile Baptist Association.

Gifts by Will:

Leaving a gift to the Anderson County Chapter of the South Carolina Genealogical Society in your will is one of the simplest ways you can make a legacy gift. Examples of bequest language to include in your will are:

"I bequeath the sum of $ _____ to the Anderson County Chapter of the South Carolina Genealogical Society, a South Carolina nonprofit corporation located in Anderson, SC, or its successor in interest, to be used in such manner as the Board of Directors of said charity shall, in its sole discretion, determine."

"I give, devise, and bequeath to the Anderson County Chapter of the South Carolina Genealogical Society, a South Carolina nonprofit corporation located in Anderson, SC, or its successor in interest, _____ percent of the rest, residue and remainder of my estate to be used in such manner as the Board of Directors of said charity shall, in its sole discretion, determine."

The Anderson County Chapter of the South Carolina Genealogical Society encourages donors to contact their estate attorney for professional assistance.

Gifts of Stock

Stock that has appreciated in value is one of the most popular assets used to make charitable gifts, once it has been held for a minimum of a year. Making a gift of stock gives you the chance to realize tax benefits while helping bolster our mission to help people across our country find their ancestors.

Please notify the Board of Directors of your intended transfer to ensure your gift acknowledgement. We are unable to acknowledge gifts of stock received without your information. The Board of Directors can be reached at 864-209-8794.

Very active in church work, Mr. Garrett has long been a member of Six Mile Baptist Church. He has an outstanding record of church attendance. For example, Mr. Garrett has not missed Sunday morning church services during the past 35 year period. Even when he was away from home visiting relatives or friends in other towns, Mr. Garrett has made a point of attending church services on Sunday morning.

Among Mr. Garrett's favorite Sunday morning activities is the teaching of a weekly Sunday School class to residents of Six Mile Retirement Center. "I have a wonderful group of people at that facility," said Mr. Garrett in a recent interview. "They are very responsive 'students'," he added.

Mr. Garrett is a son of the late Benjamin Tillman Garrett and Eula Mae Baker Garrett. He grew up in the Six Mile Community of Pickens County, where he attended public schools.

SIX MILE — The splintered wreckage, above and below, is graphic evidence of the fury with which the tornado of March, 1929, hit Six Mile. Top picture shows buildings of Six Mile Academy in background.

When he was fourteen years of age, the Six Mile Community experienced a terrible tornado that swept down on the small community on Wednesday, March 13, 1929. The tornado killed Mr. Garrett's mother, who was 36 years of age, and three of his sisters: Mildred (age 13), Lucia (age 10), and Evelyn (age 7). Young Milford, two of his sisters (Virginia and Mary Alta Garrett), and his father were the members of the Garrett family to have survived the tornado. Today, (1985), 56 years after that fateful evening of the Six Mile tornado, Mr. Garrett still recalls the sheer horror of that terrible experience. The tornado and what it did to the Garrett family has had a profound impact on Mr. Garrett's life. "I witnessed my father's hair turn completely gray in the three-week period following the Six Mile tornado," Mr. Garrett said recently.

Asked to tell about what happened on the evening the tornado struck the small agricultural community of western Pickens County, Mr. Garrett pointed out that his father, who was postmaster of the Six Mile Post Office, had just returned to his home from work. Mrs. Garrett was busy in the kitchen of the family's seven-room frame dwelling that was located just a few hundred yards south of the center of the community's business district.

As Mrs. Garrett prepared supper for her family on that spring evening in 1929, her five daughters gathered around her in the kitchen. Soon the supper would be ready, but the busy mother happened to remember that she was out of flour and would need some for the biscuits that she always made each morning for breakfast. Realizing how much her husband appreciated good, homemade biscuits in the morning, she told Mr. Garrett that he should go up the street to Mrs. Charlie Smith's grocery store and buy some flour. She added that she would have supper ready by the time her husband returned with the flour. Thus, Mr. Garrett left the kitchen and headed for the family car parked in the yard. It was a 1926 Model-T Ford, but Mr. Garrett discovered that they had a flat tire, and he asked young Milford to hold a flashlight for him while he changed the tire. Soon another tire was in place on the wheel and Mr. Garrett told his son to jump into the front seat of the car and ride up to the store with him to fetch the flour for the next morning's breakfast. Young Milford did not usually accompany his father on trips to the store, so he was doing something different that fateful night. He had been delighted to crank the Model-T for his father with a hand crank.

After Mr. Garrett had purchased a sack of flour at the grocery store, he and his son went outside the building to get into the car for the short return trip home. Milford again got the crank and attempted to start the car, but it wouldn't crank. He tried time and time again. Meanwhile, he and his father noticed that the night had become "pitch dark" and a heavy rain began to fall. They also heard an ominous noise that sounded like several freight trains passing by, but they knew that there were no trains in Six Mile. They soon began to realize that a terrible storm or tornado was passing through the community, but there was no storm damage at the store. As the chief noise of the storm seemed to be coming from the vicinity of their home down the road, they became anxious to get back to Mrs. Garrett and the other children of the family. Thus, Milford attempted once more to crank the Model-T. The car's engine started at last.

When Milford and his father arrived at their house, they were shocked to discover that the house was gone; it had been completely blown away by the tornado. Only the brick foundation of the dwelling was left. The tornado was so strong that it even took two free-standing fireplaces and two chimneys with it. Soon, Milford and his father realized that their home and the home of Nelson (Nelse) Garrett, Milford's uncle, had been in the path of the tornado. The Nelse Garrett house was across the road from the Tillman Garrett dwelling. Both were completely destroyed by the tornado.

When Milford and his father saw the destruction of the tornado, they had little hope for Mrs. Garrett and the five girls who had been in the house at the time the twister touched down. Their worst fears soon became a reality as bodies of members of the Tillman and Nelse Garrett families were discovered one by one by residents of the Six Mile Community. The body of Milford's mother, Eula Mae Baker Garrett, was found 300 yards north of the site of their former dwelling. The bodies of two of her daughters, Mildred, age 13, and Evelyn, age 7, were found nearby that of Mrs. Garrett.

We will continue the story of Milford Garrett in the next issue of the Anderson Record.
